Community Spirit Of Town Runs High In Generous Response To Red Feather Campaign Needs

All citizens of Arlington are familiar with Cyrus Dallin's statue Appeal to the Great Spirit showing the Indian on Horseback arms outstretched, gazing in the sky and appealing for help from the unknown and invisible Great Spirit.

At this time of the year we, too, voice an appeal one that is urgent and of the most vital importance to all citizens of Arlington. We refer of course to the Red Feather Community Fund Drive. Sometimes we think that the importance of this appeal isn't properly understood by all who make Arlington their home.

Let's take a look at what it means to us. For Arlington the agencies that benefit are:

Arlington Boys Club
Arlington Girl Scouts
Arlington Social Service League
Arlington Visiting Nurses Assn.
Arlington Boy Scouts
Campfire Girls
Mass. Catholic Women's Guild
St. James Branch
St. Vincent de Paul St. Agnes Conference

More money comes back to these agencies than is collected in Arlington during the campaign. Would we as civic minded citizens (Continued on Page Seven)

Blood Donor Days November 15-16

Though the Red Cross constantly recruits blood donors, it also endlessly supplies blood to more than 100 hospitals in Massachusetts.

In Arlington the Symme Memorial Hospital has been the recipient of blood collected. Patients receive blood from the Red Cross without charge and to continue the peacetime blood program donors are needed in each community.

Arlington residents will have the opportunity November 15 and 16 to donate blood in the hall at St.

Johns Episcopal Church, Pleasant Street, from 1 to 7 P. M.

Mrs. Arthur W. Sampson, 21 Cliff Street, and Mrs. Russell P. Hamlet, 15 Victoria road, who are co-chairmen in the blood drive, are optimistic about the response from Arlington residents when the bloodmobile rolls into the town.

Many persons from varied groups have signified their cooperation with the program and are signed as donors. Registrations are being taken at Arlington 5-1163.

Legion Plans Nov. 10 Banquet

Arlington Post No. 39, American Legion, will hold its annual Armistice Day banquet in the Robbinson Memorial town hall, Arlington, on Wednesday evening, November 10th. Arlington Man Inventor Of "Abrading Cylinder"

On October 5, 1948, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,450,859 on a "Manufacture of Abrading Elements" to Floyd H. Ogden, Arlington, Mass.

This invention pertains to the manufacture of sections of a rotary cylinder abrading wheel. Heretofore, in the production of such units, one method has been to wind a cloth strip spirally upon itself about a drum to form a ring which is then tied at its central portion by a suitable thread. Thereupon, the edges of the strips are brought together toward a plane perpendicular to the axis of the structure which is next removed from the drum. The disc, thus formed, is sewn through and through the layers to thereby (Continued on page seven)

Mail Early To Men Overseas

Warning that Christmas parcels to members of the United States armed forces overseas should be mailed before the deadline of November 15, was sounded by Superintendent McGinnis of the Arlington postoffice.

Army and Navy officials have advised the Post office Department that present airlift capacities to various overseas areas are being taxed to the utmost, and it will not be possible to augment these facilities.

Any appreciable increase in air parcel post to service personnel abroad, will result in moving of the excess by surface means, with the resultant delay in delivery. Those planning to mail Christmas boxes to the armed forces overseas, are urged to deposit them by November 15, if for Europe, and not later than this week for Japan and the Islands of the Pacific.

Attention Veterans

Have you a Souvenir Rifle, Machine Gun or Projectile at home?
Are you sure that it will not be discharged and kill your loved ones?
You can help bring in America's silent killers!
You can take away its death dealing power and return it as a harmless Souvenir, to be admired, by contacting Chief Bullock or Sergeant Riley, at Police Headquarters, or by notifying the Commander of your Veterans' Organization.
These men are cooperating with the national war trophy safety committee, in an effort to make your home a safe place in which to live.

Act at once! To delay may mean a life.
Thirty one thousand machine guns have been rounded up around the country since the close of the war. Among the "killers", the mauser type revolver, shaped like a pistol and with an innocent appearance, is classed as a machine gun.

It's Cider Time

It's cider time in New England!
It's early November, but the countryside is still reminiscent of scarlet swamp maples, red berries of black alder, and the orange-red beads of the bitter-sweet.

Across the fields, the brown and yellow of sturdy oaks are brushed with the ruby of the sumach steeples, and the rudeness of barberry hedges rampant along old stone walls.

In the warm noontime sun, feathery pods of milkweed swing their fairy boats on the tide of the autumn breezes, and far across the meadows, veils of blue mist ribbon the lowlands.
Yes, it's cider time in old New England, and mingling with all this breath-taking beauty, drifts the enticing aroma of piles of ripened apples, stacked at the door of the old cider mill.

Now we drive along familiar country ways, along upland slopes, until a turn in the road brings us to the old tumble-down brown shingle cider mill, nestled against the warm heart of the hill, and our souls grow nostalgic with the memories of childhood days.

Down in Falmouth, Maine, a sixty-two year old man boasts of the fine output of his old cider press, with a capacity of one hundred barrels a day. With the help of a neighbor-orchardist, this chap turns out sixty gallons of the tasty amber liquor in an hour, and when two or three neighbors lend him a hand, the turnout can be tripled.

The old cider mill may be a little obsolete and slow, as compared with modern science and its gadgets of speedy production, and perhaps in some places the latter are replacing the old presses.

But we'll wager that most of the enchanting sweet brew turned out around Thanksgiving time here in old New England still comes direct from the old time presses, like the one in which James W. Plummer takes so much pride down Falmouth way.

And, further, we'll wager that the old fashioned presses dear to the Yankee heart will always remain a part of the familiar New England scene.

RED CROSS SERVES FIREMEN AT FIRE

At the request of the Fire Department, the Arlington Red Cross served hot coffee and doughnuts to the firemen at the Bayburn fire on Saturday night Oct. 23.

The following workers responded to the call. Mrs. Walter C. Crosby, Chairman of Mobile Canteen. Miss Eileen G. Connor and Mrs. Ruth Fuller, Canteen workers. Mrs. Elwyn S. MacEwen, Motor Corps, drove the Station wagon with supplies. Mrs. Carolyn B. Reed, Chairman, assisted with her car. The Firemen were most appreciative, after their long hours of arduous fire fighting.

The doughnuts were purchased from the Arlington Hts. Fruit Co. Janies Luncheonette and the Arlington Hts. Delicatessen Co. The coffee was procured at Kofords.

I Wonder?

I WONDER if Arlington music lovers aren't a bit puffed up (and rightly so) over the fine illustrated article in the October issue of a wellknown magazine, telling of the work of the Philharmonic Orchestra of this town.

I WONDER if the public realizes that the delicious coffee served at the Sportsmans Diner in the Heights in enhanced by the use of more than five gallons of cream per day.

I WONDER if Mrs. James Jordan, of 15 Fairmont street, enjoyed her recent trip to Ireland to visit members of her family there, and if she was glad to be back again in this country.

I WONDER if little Ann Donovan, isn't happy to be up and around again after her recent illness.

I WONDER if Mrs. Celia Fennochiotti, of 278 Broadway wasn't surprised and pleased to learn that she was the winner of the Gold Cup in a waltz contest at the Lowell Auditorium.

I WONDER how many Arlingtonians know that Paul Dever's brother, resides here only a stone's throw from Arlington Center?

I WONDER if we appreciate our Robbins Memorial Library as one of the finest in New England: luxurious, complete, with its staff of courteous and brisk helpers.

I WONDER how many people realize that beneath his mask of austerity, Father Durocher really has a heart of the purest gold?

I WONDER how many Arlingtonians appreciate what a go-through guy our Clerk of the Board of Selectmen here, really is?

I WONDER who had the nerve to splash that large MOBILE OIL sign directly across the face of Eddie's Repair Shop sign, which has graced his place of business at 19 Park Avenue, for many years?

I WONDER if Paul Griffin, popular chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, wasn't a tower of strength to the forces of the Democratic party here in Arlington?

Park Commissioners And Public Works Dept. Cooperate In The Interchange Of Various Equipment

As an expression of their appreciation of the excellent cooperation and assistance rendered the Park Commission by the Public Works Department, the Commission through its chairman Edward D. Buckley, expressed their approval in the following communication; under date of October 18, 1948:

Mr. Thomas J. O'Neill, Chairman Board of Public Works
Town Hall
Arlington 74, Massachusetts
Gentlemen:

The splendid cooperation and assistance rendered by your Board in allowing this department to use various pieces of your equipment during the past few months is very greatly appreciated.

This equipment if hired through contractors would have entailed considerable expense to the town.

Much work that would otherwise have been let on contract has been accomplished by our employees with the assistance of your equipment. The resultant saving to the town is obvious.

Such interchange of equipment is to our mutual advantage and it is for the best interests of the towns people that such a policy be continued in the future.

Very truly yours,
Board of Park Commissioners
Signed:
Edward D. Buckley
Chairman

Turkey Trot

With mouths watering over the thought of a delectable turkey dinner, Arlington's popular dog officer, Sam Femia, with Eddie of the Auto Repair Shop, and neighbor Beasley, engaged in a veritable "turkey trot" on Monday afternoon which took them over the hills and far away.

It seems that two of the finest specimens of gobblers, realizing no doubt that the time is approaching for their demise, took it into their heads to leg it for the nearest ancestral thickets.

Upon later corraling the runaways, it developed that the birds are barnyard pets of a wellknown resident of Kilsythe road, and enjoy the "keys to city."

It has also developed that our three pursuing musketeers are still "talking turkey," but are a bit down in the month today over the whole incident.

Arlington High School Open House Nov. 8

The Arlington high school will open House on Monday evening, November 8th, from 7.30 to 9 o'- clock.
The meeting will be held in the evening so that parents employed during the day may have an opportunity to visit the school and meet the teachers, but all parents are urged to take this opportunity to become acquainted with the teachers of their sons and daughters. Parents are cordially invited to visit classes during American Education week, November 7 through November 13.

Red Cross Urgently In Need Of Volunteers

Thirty Greater Boston women will be needed for both the Canteen Service and the Staff Aides Service
this fall. Mrs. James F. Thompson, acting chairman of volunteers, announced this week. The requirements of the work call for women who can give morning or afternoon time once a week.

A course for those women interested in serving as Staff Aides will start Monday morning, November 1, and the course training Canteen volunteers will begin November 8.
Are you adept with frying pans, salad making, soups and baked dishes?

Or, do you prefer filing cabinets, typewriters and sharp pencils?
These are the questions Arlington women will be asked if they answer the request of the Boston Red Cross for additional hospital volunteers.

As a Canteen volunteer women will assist at West Roxbury Veteran's Hospital, at local Blood Donor dates and on a regular schedule at the Boston Red Cross Chapter House. Staff Aides will man information desks at Chapter House, help in local hospitals, assist in needed capacities at the blood centers, and assist the various volunteer services. Both will be qualified to help during any disaster that might arise.

Appointments for an interview and for additional information can be obtained by calling the Boston
Red Cross at KENmore 6-6226.

To Meet Wed.

The Arlington Catholic Woman's Club will hold a combined business and social meeting on Wednesday evening, November 10, at St.
Agnes school hall. Colored films of the movie stars in the privacy of their homes and gardens, entitled "Shooting Stars, will be shown by the guest artist, Emily Henry Bush. Mrs. Eugene Monahan is the chairman.

Interviewed

Miss Mildred Healey, 32 Chandler Street, Arlington, was interviewed by Nelson Bragg on the "Bragg About Boston" program broadcast over station WCOP at 4:45 p. m. on October 25. The interview was made when Bragg set up his WCOP microphone in front of the Liggett's Drug Store at 4

Community --

want to be without these agencies that contribute so much to the welfare of the youth and the needy. And remember Arlington people also benefit from many many more agencies included in the Greater Boston Community Fund.

To raise the $30,750 which is Arlington's 1949 quota has meant building an organization of about 80 people, many of whom have been working on this enrollment job for weeks and even months. They have given unstintingly of their time and efforts.

We are asking all of you who have not enrolled as active workers in this campaign to show your appreciation of the efforts of these people by making their job easier. In a campaign of this sort the workers are volunteers. They aren't expert salesmen or saleswomen, nor do we want them to be. They are your neighbors calling on you to discuss with you the purposes and needs of the Community Fund. Were there no Community Fund all of you would be solicited by a great number of individual agencies (there are 30 separate agencies that benefit from the Greater Boston Community Fund.)

So will you help these people, your neighbors, by contributing as liberally as your means permit. Remember you aren't contributing to one or two agencies but to many, many of them united in the Red Feather Community Fund. Many of you do contribute liberally each year and thank you—others have not seemed to realize that their contributions are (pardon the frankness) wholly inadequate to meet the needs for which the money must be raised.

So will you dig deeper and deeper and contribute liberally. You do not have to make payment at once in one sum. We prefer pledges wherein you pay a part of the contribution now—the balance in two or three deferred payments. We feel that this arrangement will enable you to increase the amount you can give and which is so badly needed.

Now a word to those of you who work outside of Arlington and contribute at work. O.K. that's fine and from the overall Greater Boston viewpoint we wouldn't want it otherwise. It is an ideal way of collecting funds.

But remember you live in Arlington, you have a pride in seeing Arlington reach and surpass its goal—so make a little additional contribution in the name of your wife or daughter.

Campaign Headquarters will be in the Old Town Hall in one of the Girl Scout rooms. If a solicitor hasn't called on you by November 10, phone and we shall see that someone sees you promptly.

The responsibility for the success of this Arlington Drive isn't mine. It is the responsibility of all of us who live in Arlington.

Let's put it over!

Journey To Norwood Nov. 11

Many local residents will journey to Norwood on Sunday evening, November 14, to hear the Right Reverend Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, Ph. D., C., Litt D, L H D of the Catholic University of America who will lecture in the Norwood State Armory on that evening, at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Cardinal Newman Literary Society of St Catherine's Parish.

Monsignor Sheen is perhaps the best known speaker in the English speaking world. His many significant written works, and especially his eloquent radio discourse on the Catholic Hour have won for him millions of friends. His converts include Clara Booth Luce, Mr. Heywood Brown, Henry Ford II, Fritz Kreisler, Jo Meisner Greta Palmer, and Louis Budenz the Editor of the Daily Worker. His converts also include hundreds of the obscure. In a single day in Lent he baptized 43 men and women whose number included a Jewish manicurist, a Baptist Minister, six thieves and a Yogi follower. Msgr. Sheen is without doubt the greatest orator of our day. When he preaches in St. Patrick's Cathedral in N Y it is necessary to put loud speakers in the streets to accommodate the crowd.

Msgr. Sheen will come to Norwood on Nov. 14 for his ninth lecture in as many years. His title this year is "The Supreme Alternative. A Broken Heart or a Broken World." Tickets for the Lecture are available at St. Catherine's Rectory. Write or phone Norwood 7-0154.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

October 21, 1948
Commander Lee Morris, Chairman John T. Kerr, and the members of Arlington Chapter No. 49, disabled American Veterans, would like to take this opportunity to thank you of the Arlington Press and the people of Arlington, for your fine cooperation and generous efforts in behalf of our recent Forget-me-not drive.

(Signed):
John G. Morrissey
Adjutant

Editor

Arlington Press.
Arlington, Mass.

Dear Sir:

As a resident of East Arlington, there is a certain situation which I should like to bring to the attention of other citizens and through the medium of your paper enlist their aid and support.

One of the most dangerous intersections in this area is the one at the corner of Woodstock street and Alewife Brook Parkway. There have been several fatal accidents at that point.

Now with the high school nearby and the increased enrollment at the schools—it is more dangerous than ever.

For a considerable period of time an effort has been made by many of us to have the proper authorities rectify the situation.

Some time ago Rep. Kingston stated that traffic lights would be installed. Then it was explained that there was some sort of delay. Subsequently Rep. Kingston stated that they would be definitely installed by September 1st of this year, before the beginning of the school year.

However no lights have been installed as yet nor even any indications that they will be. It seems a shame that promises are not fulfilled and that the dangerous situation still exists and that the lives of our children and citizens are so imperiled.

Very truly yours,
Paul C. Griffin

To The Editor:

The Catholic Youth Parade is now a matter of history. According to many it was a magnificent and glorious spectacle and one long to be remembered as an outstanding event in the history of the Archdiocese.

I wish to express my gratitude and appreciation for the cooperation of your paper in its very generous coverage of the Parade by its outstanding news articles published prior to the following the Parade.

Your continued assistance in providing space for the various activities sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization of the Archdiocese is appreciated by the priest directors, lay leaders, Catholic youth and the CYO staff.

Very truly yours,
George Dowd

To Sponsor Series Of Fine Arts Programs

After last year's most successful program, the Arlington Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will again sponsor a series of three fine arts performances this school year. This program is unique in that it not only gives the children in grades four through nine the best possible professional entertainment for a minimum charge, but that it is planned, supervised, and directed by the parents and members of the school department.

This type of program was first suggested to the Executive board of the Locke Parent-Teacher Association by Mrs. Hector M. MacNeil, and it was received with a great deal of enthusiasm. It was felt, however, that a program of this size could not be successfully carried out by a single unit. The Arlington Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was approached and agreed to sponsor the program on a town-wide basis.

A Board of Managers was appointed by the Council whose responsibility was to cover all phases of the program. All the local units and the school department are represented on this board. The Council adopted a Fine Arts program Code to guide and to define the responsibilities of each of the Board of Managers and its various committees.

Mrs. Harvey C. Abbott was the first chairman of the Board of Managers. Under her leadership the following programs were represented last year. "Ali Baba" by the Tributary Theatre; a Philharmonic Concert by the Philharmonic Society of Arlington, conducted by Leo Litwin; "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by Jan Veen and his Modern Ballet.

The charge for the school children of Arlington for these three attractions was $1.20 tax included. The receipts from the ticket sales naturally did not cover expenses so sponsorship campaigns were carried out. Both individual and commercial sponsors were solicited and these were recognized in the program. These programs were prepared with explanations and footnotes so that the children could better understand each performance. In addition to this, individual members of

Miss PothierBecomes Bride

Miss Doris Mary Pothier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Pothier, 19, Palmer street, Arlington, became the bride on Sunday afternoon at St. Agnes church, of John Francis Prior son of Mrs. Delia Prior, of 962 Massachusetts avenue, also of Arlington. Following the ceremony, performed by Rev. William J. Linehan, a curate, a wedding reception was held at Ye Lantern, Arlington.

Catholic Woman's Club Social Wednesday Nite

St. James Branch No. 17, Massachusetts Catholic Womens Guild will sponsor a whist and bridge party on Monday afternoon, November 8, at two o'clock, in the upper church vestry, with Mrs. Margaret White in charge. The next Guild social will be held on Tuesday evening, November 17, at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Annie L. Heaney and Mrs. Alice Furdon will be in charge.

The Tributary Theatre and the Modern Ballet gave explanations and interpretations to the children. Leo Litwin described various instruments, their functions and purposes in a concert orchestra. In the schools the music supervisors outlined the theme and prepared the children to anticipate the various evolutions in the selections played.

sult in a hub of some sort. According to Mr. Odgen, these prior constructions suffered from the disadvantage of bulkiness in their centers. It is therefore the object of his invention to reduce this bulkiness and also to effect an economy in the use of cloth.

In general, his mode of manufacture is as follows: Starting with a sheet of indefinite length, he cuts the same, by means of appropriate pinching wheels, lengthwise along its middle to form two distinct strips, each notched with complementary sets or series of spaced tongues. Cutting the stock in this manner affords a considerable saving of cloth because the spaces between the tongues are produced without loss of material.

As the next step, the two strips are drawn apart and shifted slightly until their corresponding tongues abut each other. The latter are then stitched together by a sewing machine, and, obviously, since this operation is continuous, the threads continue across the open spaces between the tongues to thereby result in a looseness and flexibility that are contributing factors in the lack of bulkiness of the finished product. Finally the edges of the strips are brought together as in the prior methods, and disc is removed from the drum and provided with a suitable circular row of stitches through the several plies to maintain a flat, disc-like shape.

It is claimed that this abrading element may be utilized in various ways as a wheel section, as for example, by assembling several of them face to face on or about a hub and clamping them together by end plates.

This patent has been assigned to F. L. and J. C. Codman, Rockland, Mass.

Arlington Leadership Training School

The third session of the Arlington Leadership Training School was held Monday night at St. John's Church on Pleasant Street. The school is sponsored by the Protestant Churches of Arlington to train church school teachers and workers. Rev. David Colwell, Pleasant Street Congregational Church, is dean of the school. Rev. John Nicol Mark, of First Parish Unitarian Church, Arlington, conducted the opening worship service.

Rev. Milton F. Schadegg of Park Avenue Congregational Church, is conducting the course on "How to Teach in the church school." Rev. Schadegg's course is designed to help teachers meet some of the practical problems in teaching. The first three sessions have dealt with the basic requirements of church school teaching mechanics of classroom procedure, and the importance of habits in classroom work. Members of the class present problems encountered in their own teaching for discussion by the group. The class is being conducted in such a way as to stimulate lively discussion and group participation. The next two sessions of the class will deal with various methods of teaching and also with aims and curriculum. Mr. Schadegg is a graduate of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn. He received his theological training at Harvard Divinity School, and holds a master's degree from Harvard Graduate School of Education. He served as a school principal in Minnesota 1934-36, as a teacher of social studies in Central High School, Minneapolis, 1936-43; as Pastor of the Union Congregational Church, Elk River, Minnesota, 1934-46; as Assistant Minister at the Second Church in West Newton, Massachusetts, 1946-47; Pastor of the Park Avenue Congregational Church, Arlington, 1947. Mr. Schadegg has had wide experience in teaching field having served as the Dean of the Sherborn County Leadership Training school for three years and as the Chairman of the section on Social Studies Curriculum for Minneapolis Public Schools.

Rabbi Herman Rubenowitz is a popular teacher on this year's staff of the Arlington Leadership Training School, project sponsored by the Protestant Churches of Arlington for all interested laymen. Rabbi Rubenowitz outlined his course, "A Brief Survey of the Old Testament", as an explanation of how the Hebrew Bible came into being.

teachings of the Bible, and an evaluation of the contribution of Hebrew thought to the civilization today. He is particularly well qualified to teach this course, he is a graduate of the College of the City of New York, B. A., of the Jewish Theological Seminary, Rabbinic Divinity; and has done graduate Degree and honorary Doctor of work at Columbia University. From 1910 to 1946, he was the Temple Mishkan Tefila in Roxbury, and is founder and president of the Rabbinical Association of Greater Boston. He and Mrs. Rubenowitz have traveled extensively in Palestine and are now at home in Arlington.

Approximately one hundred enrolled at the opening session of the School on Oct. 11, at St. John's Church on Pleasant Street. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served at the close of the evening by women of the Universalist Church. There will be four more sessions of the School, Monday evenings at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

Boston Catholic Theatre To Open With "Hound Of Heaven"

The grand opening of the Boston Catholic Theatre, official theatre organ of the Archdiocese, will take place on Tuesday evening, November 9, with the production of "The Hound of Heaven" at New England Mutual Hall in Boston.

"The Hound of Heaven", a biographical drama on the life of Francis Thompson, will be the first of a series of nine productions. The repertoire embraces the finest selection of Catholic plays ever offered to Boston theatregoers.

Scheduled as the second production of the theatre list, is Sheridan's "The Rivals" to be presented by the Dramatic Society of Holy Cross College, under the direction of Rev. Frederic Gallagher S. J., on Monday, November 22.

Other productions on the impressive schedule are: "Joan of Lorraine" staged by the Lambs of Reading, under the direction of Rev. Bernard Keane, noted Radio dramatist: "Dark Victory" by the Genesians of Boston, under the direction of Miss Frances Crowley of Watertown; "The Song of Bernadette" under the direction of Rev. Mortimer Murphy, S. J.; "Career Angel", and "Cradle Song" directed by Miss Clare Brunick of South Boston, and "The Man of Sorrows" under the direction of Edward P. O'Donnell.

Rev. Ralph Gallagher of the Cathedral Rectory is the personal representative of Archbishop Cushing to the movement, and Rev. John L. Barry, S. J., of the School of St. Philip Neri, Boston, is the spiritual director.
